

Postdoctoral Research Associate in the Department of Pharmaceutical Sciences, College of Pharmacy, Howard University, effective August 1, 2018. You will conduct research in the field of Biopharmaceutical Applications of Nanotechnology, specifically, in the area of biological in vitro and in vivo characterization of targeted polymeric nanoparticles. The project, Novel Nanotechnology Platform for Breast Cancer Therapy, is funded by NIH/NCI (PI: Emmanuel O. Akala, R.Ph., Ph.D.). Ph.D. degree and relevant publications are the main requirements.

The salary is $45,000 per annum plus benefits as determined by Howard University benefits program via Office of Human Resources.