ASSISTANT SPECIALIST IN DIVISION OF CARDIOVASCULAR MEDICINE

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, DAVIS

The University of California, Davis, School of Medicine, Division of Cardiovascular Medicine is recruiting for a full-time position as Assistant Specialist.

The position is focused on the support of research program related to translational research in cardiovascular medicine. Candidates who have proven track records in induced pluripotent stem cell-derived cardiomyocytes, confocal imaging, flow cytometry, RT-PCR analyses and knowledge in gene-targeted mouse models is preferred. Excellent communication, social and organizational skills and the ability to work in teams effectively and interact with others are required is highly preferr.

Required candidate qualifications include a master degree. Demonstrated experience and the ability to adhere to policies and procedures are required, as is the ability to work cooperatively and collegially in a diverse environment.

The candidate is expected to work well with teams of basic and translational scientists. Strong interpersonal skills is required. Qualified applicants should upload their curriculum vitae, cover letter, a statement of contributions to Diversity and the names and contact information for three professional references online at https://recruit.ucdavis.edu/apply/

Contact for the Faculty Search
Chandra Reid (creid@ucdavis.edu)
Molecular and Cellular Cardiology
University of California, Davis
One Shields Avenue, GBSF 6212
Davis, CA  95817

Initial Review Date on February 22, 2019
This position will remain open until filled through June 30, 2019

The University of California is strongly committed to diversity in attracting faculty to fill these positions and is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer.